The Road to Brown presents the role of Charles Hamilton Houston in the cases which led to the landmark Supreme Court case of Brown vs. Board of Education.
The film gives a history of segregation, Jim Crow Laws, the NAACP, and biographical information on persons influential in the desegregation movement.

This film takes a look at the controversial radio and television show and attempts to determine if the series was a positive first step for Blacks into the world of entertainment or not. It examines the role of the NAACP in the show's removal from the airwaves in 1966. Watch this film online at: http://www.hulu.com/watch/48119/amos-n-andy-anatomy-of-a-controversy.

This film tells the story of the civil rights era from the point of view of the ordinary men and women whose extraordinary actions launched a movement that changed the fabric of American life, and embodied a struggle whose reverberations continue to be felt today.

Ranging from 1937 to 1965, this compilation DVD includes 10 short films on the Black experience in America.

Color Adjustment traces 40 years of race relations through the lens of prime time entertainment, scrutinizing television's racial myths and stereotypes.

Hear protest songs that energized the U.S. civil rights movement, with original performances by John Legend, Joss Stone, Blind Boys of Alabama, Richie Havens, Mary Mary, Wyclef Jean, and The Roots. Soundtrack for a Revolution, produced by Danny Glover, blends archival footage of civil rights leaders in the 1950s and '60s with current interviews from those who were there: Harry Belafonte, Andrew Young, John Lewis, and Julian Bond, and more.
